Many Thousands Will Congratulate The Chief Executive

The Tafts' Silver Wedding Is the Talk of Washington. A Celebration Unique in the Annals of the Capital Will Occur at the White House Tonight.

SHOWERED WITH PRESENTS

Senators, Representatives, Supreme Court Judges, Cabinet Officers and Private Citizens Send Beautiful Specimens of Silversmith's Art. White House and Grounds to Be Brilliant With Electric Lights. Marine Band Will Furnish Music.

Washington, June 19.—It is just beginning to dawn on the folks in Washington that the Taft silver wedding celebration at the White House tonight is going to be unique in the annals of national capital. Thousands of the curious stood along the iron fence enclosing the grounds of the executive mansion, while dozens of workmen strung miles of wire around the lawns and gardens and socketed the thousands of electric lights that will shed their radiance on the 5,000 guests expected to attend the function.

"A man has one silver wedding anniversary," said the president, in chatting with a friend. It is with this in his mind that Mr. Taft has given orders that everything possible be done to add to the pleasure of the thousands of guests who will greet him tonight and that has caused him to exercise personal supervision over many details of the arrangements for the occasion.

The illumination of the White House and grounds will be the most elaborate ever attempted. The historic structure itself will be outlined in streaks of fire, thousands of incandescent lamps will glow in the oaks and elms, strung about the executive mansion, flooding the lawns with light, and searchlights on the roof of the state, war and navy buildings will throw colored beams of light on the playing fountain directly in front of the great portico of the White House.

Will Use Searchlights.

Practically all the preliminaries have been completed. The lawns have been newly clipped, the trees and shrubbery trimmed, the stand for the Marine band completed and the covered canopy under which President and Mrs. Taft will stand to receive their guests has been erected. Dozens of tables scattered among the trees will bear bowls of punch and light refreshments. On the lawn the Marine band will play. In the east room the Engineers' band will serve the dancers. It will be a long remembered outdoor fete if the fickle weather of Washington holds kind and true.

The presents of silver will comprise the finest display that Washington has ever seen. They are banked in the red room of the White House and the pile grows higher and higher every hour. Some of these gifts have come from foreign countries, but the great majority of them were given by friends in Washington.

Those presents which were sent by organizations are particularly handsome. The set presented by the United States senate, the three dozen silver plates from the house and the silver service from the United States supreme court are the first gifts ever made by these bodies to an individual, be he president or private citizen.

Cabinet Members Contribute.

From Cincinnati, the home of the Tafts, have come numerous gifts. The Commercial club of that city which is on hand in a body to attend the celebration, has sent a gorgeous collection of silver. The people of Maryland have presented a silver punch bowl, tray and ladle, while many organizations have remembered the distinguished couple with gifts. The members of the cabinet sent individual presents, as have many others in Washington intimate with the Taft administration.

The Washington correspondent sent a solid silver fruit dish and the Gridiron club a solid silver pitcher and waiter. The army officers of Washington who served in the Philippines sent a unique silver piece.

The celebration began at noon, when the president was entertained at Chey Chase by the Commercial club of Cincinnati. This party reached the city this morning on a special train.

The invitation list is interesting. It includes in all nearly 5,000 people, some of them from the Pacific coast. First of all the president invited all the surviving members of the families of former presidents of the United States, beginning with Robert T. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln. Then Mr. and Mrs. Taft invited the class of Yale '78, of which the president is a member, and the members of the Skull and Bones society of Yale.

MANUFACTURERS TO FIGHT

Ask Hogan For Opinion on Woman's Shorter Workday Law.

Columbus, O., June 19.—Daniel J. Ryan and other members of a committee representing the Ohio Association of Manufacturers, contended to Attorney General Hogan that the new Green law limiting the hours of employment of women and girls to 54 a week and not more than 10 a day, is unconstitutional and asked that he give a ruling on it. They also asked that State Shop Inspector Kearns be requested to hold up the enforcement of the law pending the outcome of the ruling. Attorney General Hogan will pass upon the law and mean while the enforcement of it will remain suspended.

"Big Jim" Marker Is Promoted

Governor Harmon Makes Change Highway Commissionship.

Columbus, O., June 19.—James R. Marker, chief engineer of the state public works, was appointed by Governor Harmon to succeed James C. Wonders as state highway commissioner.

As chief engineer Mr. Marker drew an annual salary of $2,999 and in his new position he will get $4,000. He will have greatly increased responsibilities as highway commissioner. He will have charge of the disbursement of more than a half million dollars which the state gives each year for building good roads. He will also have full supervision over the construction work.

Utility Bill, Drastic Ohio Statute, Becomes Law Without Signature

Under Its Terms Wasteful Competition Will Be Eliminated—Comparison Said to Show the Winters Bill Secures for State a Most Advanced Regulatory Measure.

Columbus, O., June 19.—The most progressive legislation ever enacted in Ohio became effective when the Winters utility bill was passed after an exhaustive study by a conference committee representing the house and senate. It was then permitted to become a law without the governor's signature.

This particular legislation has figured more in the public eye than any other measure considered by this legislature, for the reason that it touches either directly or indirectly the pocketbooks of every consumer in the state of Ohio.

The placing of this act on the statutes puts Ohio easily in the van in the matter of really progressive legislation, for it is the unqualified opinion of legal and economic experts who have studied this law that it is the best and most advanced now on the statute books of any state in the Union.

The utilities act is based upon that feature of economic destiny that competition is wasteful and useless and a heavy burden upon the consumer, and for this waste of duplication is substituted state control by a competent commission of all of its public utilities.

This commission is clothed with the most complete powers. It can absolutely regulate the capitalization and expenditure of utilities, the rates to be charged and practices to be adopted; can compel good service and adequate service, extensions of plant, etc.; can dictate the methods of bookkeeping and accounting and exercise a close supervision over all relations of utilities with the consumer, the public and the investor.

Every utility serving the public for profit in this state comes under the terms of the act; railroads, interurban electric railroads, express companies, transportation companies, gas companies, electric light companies, telephone and telegraph companies, etc.

There is assured to the people, who are really indispensable partners in every public utility, the widest publicity regarding the heretofore secret inside doings of every utility corporation in the state. This information will be on file with the commission at all times and open to public inspection.

Strictly local utilities, such as gas water and electric light, are still to be regulated by the municipality, with an appeal to the commission by the consumer if he feels aggrieved over any rate or term fixed by council. This applies particularly to the natural gas question, which has recently reached an acute stage in several Ohio cities, notably Columbus, where the good effect of the law was recently shown in the acceptance by the gas company of a 30-cent rate where 25 cents had been demanded with threat of turning off gas and taking it elsewhere.

The Ohio law has been pronounced to be a much more comprehensive measure from every viewpoint than the recently enacted New Jersey law, which experts say is full of loopholes, while in the Ohio law there is no chance to drive through any openings.

One feature which will interest the consumer to a great degree is the unification of telephone service throughout the state, which will be one of the first direct beneficial results of the law.

For a long time the telephone user in Ohio has groaned under the burden of two telephone systems duplicating their services in every city and hamlet in the state. The consumer has paid the freight begrudgingly on the theory that competition in telephones protected him. The consumer after a while came to the realization that this was not the kind of protection that suited his pocketbook the best and became an advocate of the progressive idea that regulation by the state should be substituted for the wastes and annoyances incident to duplication in telephone plants, investments and subscribers.

The telephone users insisted upon being heard before the committee having the utilities bill in charge and stated their view of the situation frankly. They stated that they had tried competition for a dozen years and that it was not the protection they thought it was and wanted something better in a word control and regulation by the state would give them proper protection.

Within 18 months it is predicted that Ohio will be enjoying a single telephone service with the state as the buffer between the telephone user and the company. This will mean a saving of many thousands of dollars to the telephone subscribers and those who have their money invested in Ohio telephone securities.

It is said that the plan of unification now in the process of being worked out provides for the independent companies taking over the business of their competitors in practically 75 per cent of the state, while the balance of the local companies will continue to be managed by their friends and neighbors as heretofore.

BULLPEN COLLAPSES

Four Convicts Killed and Many Others Injured.

Newport, Tenn., June 19.—Four convicts were killed, 12 seriously hurt and 14 convicts and three guards painfully injured in the collapse of a bullpen in the heart of the Smoky mountains where two railroads are fighting for the monopoly of the only mountain pass to the east. The convicts were the property of the state of North Carolina and the heavy ball and chain they were made it impossible for them to escape. The men were all negroes.

Missouri Senator Starts Boom Too Soon

Starts Boom For Folk as Missouri's Favorite Son.

Washington, June 19.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri issued a statement which threw the Champ Clark presidential boomers into a panic. He called attention to the fact that the democratic state convention in 1910 endorsed former Governor Joseph W. Folk for the presidency and insisted that the endorsement of Mr. Folk is binding on all Missouri Democrats. In conclusion he said: "As far as I am concerned, I am unequivocally for Mr. Folk for president."

WILL CHANGE DIRECTORATE

Seeks to Oust Cientifico Crowd From Control of Mexican National System—High Financiers Plan Hurdled Trips Abroad Before Investigation Begins—Representative of Gates Clique on Hand to Consider Offer From Pearson Oil Interests.

El Paso, Tex., June 19.—Under the direction of Francisco I. Madero the new Mexican government will in a short time wrest control of the Mexican National railways, representing hundreds of millions of dollars, from the Cientificos, who are close friends of former President Diaz. This means that the enemies of the revolutionary party are to be deprived of the last vestige of their power and, in fact, the most important source of their influence. The Cientifico group, of which Senator Jose Yves Limantour is the head, now has a majority of eight on the board of directors. However, the board can be changed by order of the president of the republic. The present government will remove enough of the members of the dominant faction to destroy the power of the old Diaz clique and replace them with men who can be depended upon. This action probably will be taken within a week.

The program resembles closely that of the United States government in its probing of the big corporations. Many will no doubt lose their concessions. The investigations will also involve an inquiry into the affairs of a great corporation, representing the Pearson oil interests, which are backed by British capital and controlled by Lord Cowdray formerly Sir Weetman Pearson.

Charges Made Openly.

It is openly charged by influential members of the Madero party that the Pearson company secretly donated $1,500,000 in stock to the members of the Cientifico group in order to obtain friendly influence on the board of directors of the National railways. The coming inquiry will deal particularly with the relations between the British company and the former advisers and friends of Diaz.

The investigation is to be hastened owing to the report received by the new government that Pearson is considering a plan to transfer its holdings in Mexico to financiers interested in the John W. Gates Texas Oil company and the Gulf Refining company. The presence in the capital of representatives of these two corporations has added conviction in the minds of the leaders of the revolution to the truth of the report.

Ready For Flight.

Cientificos now in the City of Mexico are panic-stricken, and a majority of them are preparing to leave for the United States or Europe, following the example of Limantour and Escandon. The government, through the influence of Madero, is now preparing to make a rigid examination of all contracts and treasury accounts in which the Cientificos have figured.

Two Women Are Killed

Wooden Passenger Steamer Burns to Water's Edge.

Boston, June 19.—Two women lost their lives and five men were injured when the wooden passenger steamer Governor Andrew of the Nahant line was burned to the water's edge at a wharf in East Boston. The bodies, which were those of Harriet Kelly and Elizabeth McNeill, both stewardesses on the craft, were recovered by the police. Ten injuries to the men were not serious.

Father's Awful Deed Orphans Four Children Kills Wife and Self

Frank Ernest, Prominent Madison County Politician, Murders Wife Apparently Without Cause and Then Turns Gun Upon Himself, Leaving Four Small Children Alone in the World—Jealousy and "Nagging" Alleged.

The village of West Jefferson, a few miles east of London, Madison county, was stirred to the utmost early Saturday evening when Frank Ernest, ex-marshal of the village and a prominent Madison county politician, murdered his wife in cold blood, and then killed himself, while their four small children were either leaving the house or playing in the front yard.

Ernest used a 32-caliber revolver and fired five shots. The first shot was fired while the revolver was near his wife's breast, and the ball penetrated her heart, causing instant death. Ernest then turned the gun upon himself and pulled the trigger four times in quick succession, three of the balls penetrating his breast, and the fourth one barely grazing his shoulder. He fell to the floor beside his dead wife, and expired within two hours thereafter. Two of the children left orphans by the father's awful crime are twins about eight months of age.

Early Saturday morning neighbors heard Ernest and his wife quarreling in their home, but nothing was thought of the occurrence, although they apparently had always enjoyed domestic tranquility, and were never known to quarrel before.

Mr. Ernest spent the day around the house doing some decorating, as he had been doing that sort of work and some odd jobs at painting for several months. He worked until shortly after 4 o'clock when he went over next door to the Catholic parsonage to witness the baptism of a child.

He returned home and a few minutes later a shot was heard from the house and Mrs. Ernest fell dead in the doorway between the parlor and sitting room. Screaming at the top of her voice, his little 11-year-old daughter, who had been playing just outside the door, ran across the street to the home of a neighbor saying: "Papa has killed mamma." In one glance at the open door she had seen her mother fall in the doorway and ran terror-stricken from the house.

More shots sounded before she was across the street and when the terrified neighbors reached the house, Mr. Ernest was lying in the adjoining room, about twelve feet from where his wife's body lay, with a smoking revolver in his hand and three bullet wounds in his body. Dr. Evans and several other physicians were called, but Ernest died about an hour later after refusing to make a statement as to what prompted the shooting.

The bullet that struck Mrs. Ernest passed through the heart and death must have been instantaneous. Her clothes were badly burned, as was her breast, and it is thought her husband grabbed her and pressed the revolver against her body before pulling the trigger.

It is believed the infuriated man grabbed his wife so quickly that she could make no outcry, as the four children were playing just outside the door and did not hear their mother scream, but were startled by the shots from the revolver. When neighbors reached the house the

We Work

SEVENTH—The writer has known some people who work to get money to travel. This is all right, for traveling is an education of itself. Some of these workers are years in saving sufficient funds to make the trip planned. In the meanwhile this money should be earning 5 per cent. interest by leaving it with The Buckeye State Building and Loan Co., Rankin Bldg., 2 West Gay St., Columbus, Mo. Assets $4,700,000.

three youngest children crept into the room but were too young to understand that their mother was dead and their father dying.

Mr. Ernest and his wife lived on the main street of the village in a cosy little home just two doors from the Catholic church. It has been his custom to go to the parsonage to watch the little ones baptized when he was not working, and it was upon his return from such a visit that he shot his wife and killed himself.

Jealousy, coupled with "nagging" upon the part of his wife is one of the causes advanced for the tragedy. He is alleged to have said in his delirium: "Jen, let me alone," repeating this a number of times before his death.

It appears that the crime was in a way, premeditated, as the man purchased the revolver and cartridges Saturday afternoon at a store in Columbus.

Ernest was 38 years old and his wife 41. Mrs. Ernest's maiden name was Jennie Kehoe, and both parties had lived in West Jefferson all their lives.

Funeral services take place tomorrow with interment in the West Jefferson cemetery. The children will probably be placed in the Madison County Children's Home.

Sanitary Sewer For Market Street

Plans on the Market street sewer, which is now under course of rebuilding in order to afford an outlet for the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool and the building in general, have undergone a change, and a sanitary sewer will be laid instead of the present eighteen-inch sewer, so that when the new sanitary sewerage system is installed it can be connected with the sanitary system with little expense and become a part of the new system.

The sewer will be ten inches, and it is said that the cost will be little in excess of what it would cost to lower the present big sewer, and the tile will be used elsewhere, so that by laying a sanitary sewer there will be an actual saving of several hundred dollars.

The storm water will necessarily be diverted from the new sewer, but just how this will be done has not been decided. It might be said that the Market street sewer will be the real beginning of the new system, although the sanitary system will not be installed until all plans have been adopted.

Workmen are experiencing considerable difficulty in making the necessary excavation for the Market street sewer, because of quicksands and caving banks. Timbers will be used to hold the walls back.

Will Rid City Of Big Nuisance

An approved, fly-tight manure bin has been constructed in the rear of the fire department building for the reception of all refuse from fire department stables, thus eliminating one of the greatest fly-breeding places in the city.

For months the stable manure has been allowed to accumulate in the rear of the fire department until there is a great pile of probably fifteen loads, and the odor arising therefrom is anything but pleasing, while flies swarm about it in myriads.

Complaint has been made of this glaring breach of the Board of Health's order by the city itself, and those who are employed in the block surrounding the objectionable, disease breeding mass, are tired of waiting for its removal.

Heavy Hail Storm Causes Damage

During the heavy rain and electrical storm Saturday night between the hours of eight and ten o'clock, some parts of the county were visited by hail storms of more or less violent nature.

One of the worst of the hail storms covered a narrow scope of country three miles east of this city, where large numbers of small hail stones fell, doing considerable damage to growing crops, fruit trees, etc.

The storm gathered in the northeast, and swept down toward the southwest, and the rain fell in blinding sheets. A number of persons who were caught in the storm had narrow escapes from accidents. In this city the streets were crowded up until the moment the rain commenced to fall, and a general stampede for shelter resulted.

THE SHORTEST SPEECH.

It Was Delivered by Caesar and Consisted of a Single Word.

Julius Caesar holds the record for brevity of convincing speech.

The story is told that while Caesar was in the midst of his struggle for the mastery of the Roman empire the soldiers of his favorite tenth legion mutinied. He appeared before them, and uttering the one word "Quintus," paused.

That word means, of course, "citizens," but to the veterans to whom it was addressed it meant a great deal more. It was the special term used in addressing Roman voters assembled in a purely civic capacity, not as soldiers, but as civilians.

To the mutinous soldiers it meant that the great commander, whom they had followed for ten long years from the Alps to the Thames and from the Rhine to the Pyrenees and across the Rubicon, disowned them as soldiers and dismissed them from his victorious service.

Realizing its meaning, the story goes, the mutineers were appalled. Battle-scarred veterans burst into tears, implored their leader to pardon them and indicted summary punishment upon the inciters of the mutiny as a proof of their repentance.

JUDGE CURTAIN WILL SIT IN NELSON DRESBACH CASE ECHO OF KINGSTON BANK

Monday morning the trial of Nelson Dresbach, upon the charge of feloniously aiding and abetting Nolan L. Gartner in the willful misapplication of the funds of the Scioto Valley bank of Kingston, Ohio, commenced in the Common Pleas court in Ross county. Dresbach is charged with having secured close to $100,000 from the defunct Kingston Bank without returning it.

So far 37 witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify in the case, says the Gazette, "fourteen of them being witnesses for the state, and 23 for the defense. Among the witnesses for the state is Nolan L. Gartner, with whom Dresbach is indicted, and who is at present serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary, as a result of his conviction upon the charge of making false entries in the books of the Scioto Valley Bank, of which he was cashier, up to the time of the failure of that institution.

A new venire of thirty jurors has been summoned from whom to select a jury. In addition to the multitude of reasons upon which a member of the venire may be excused for cause, each side has four peremptory challenges, to be used to eliminate from the jury any one to whom either side may object and have no statutory grounds for excusing.

Judge Clarence Curtain, of Circleville, will preside, and the state will be represented by Prosecuting Attorney Walter W. Bounger and Mr. Johnson, of the office of the attorney general. The defendant will be represented by John P. Phillips and J. D. Withgott, who were his attorneys at the former trial.

It is expected that the trial of the case will require between one and two weeks, but that it will be shorter and the hearing of the evidence be concluded sooner than in the first trial. There is much pioneer work in the case for the presiding judge, as the case involves some points of law new to the Ohio courts.

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE CITY CHURCHES

A large audience greatly enjoyed "Children's Day" at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

The church has seldom been as beautifully decorated, the chancel screened in asparagus vine and daisies, with stately ascension lilies in graceful clusters and the deep window embrasures at the sides were banked in asparagus and crimson ramblers.

In the center of the church were the children, little human flowers, sweet as those nodding above them.

Their program was most attractive, the tiny girls and boys of the primary class giving the cunningest of songs and recitations, and the Junior children appearing to advantage. There were songs and responsive readings by the school and the entire service appropriate to the occasion.

Rev. Campbell administered the ordinance of baptism and made a little talk.

Mrs. James T. Tuthill, as chorister had charge of the music. Misses Mazie Kessler and Miss Edith Campbell the Juniors. Miss Myrtle Bonham assisted in the accompaniment.

The effective decorating was done by the girls of Miss Emma Jackson's Sunday school class.

Children's Day was observed in Grace M. E. church at the hour of the usual preaching service.

A charming program was presented in classes.

The little tots of the Primary departments were very cute and winsome, marching in linked with long daisy chains and singing the Daisy song. The pupils of the older classes gave beautiful drills, songs and recitations, the entire program well put on under the committee, Mrs. Herbert Chapman, Mrs. Eva Penn and Miss Ethel Calvert.

Singularly appropos and a fitting tribute was the presentation of a beautiful fern in memory of Miss Ida Dean, who for so many years had been a Primary teacher and active Sunday school worker. It was the gift of the Public school teachers and will be placed in the Edward Johnson Hodson Memorial hospital in memory of Miss Dean.

Elaborate and artistic were the decorations of the church, with festoons from the high dome caught to the chancel rail with butterfly bows and within the rail immense bunches of poppies and lilies with greenery.

The flowers were all taken over to the hospital to be enjoyed by those not able to be out.

FATHER'S DAY

The committee of men who arranged and carried out the idea of Father's Day at the Christian church yesterday were very successful in their efforts.

The auditorium was tastefully decorated with crimson ramblers. An appropriate program was given in the Bible school and the sermon was on the same line of thought. The attendance was large and appreciative.

FINE MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Dr. R. M. Hughey delivered the annual K. P. Memorial address at Madison Mills Sunday, the address being notably one of the finest ever presented to the lodge and winning appreciative response on the part of the large number of members and their friends who crowded the hall.

Messrs. Horstman and Kneisley furnished excellent piano and violin music.

HONORED WITH APPOINTMENT

Fred Carpenter, son of Judge F. G. Carpenter, who is just entering his Junior year at the O. S. U., has had the honor of an appointment on the editorial staff of the O. S. U. Lantern, the college paper. Mr. Carpenter has been taking the journalistic course and this recognition of his ability at outset of his Junior year is highly gratifying to his many friends.

ON WESTERN TOUR

Misses Clara Thurston and Bess Cleveland started this morning for an extended western trip, Miss Bertha Swope, of Cleveland, joining them at Chicago. They will make a short stop at Colorado Springs and visit the Grand Canyon in Arizona enroute to Los Angeles and San Francisco, where they expect to attend the National Education Convention. From San Francisco they go to Seattle, where Miss Thurston will remain to visit her brother, Mr. James Thurston. Misses Cleveland and Swope will make the return trip via the Canadian Pacific, stopping at Victoria, the Glaciers, Lake Louise and St. Paul, Minn. Miss Thurston also expects to return via the Canadian and Pacific and may join her companions on the way.

THE COLONIAL

CATECHISM

Q. What is a moving picture?
A. A modern invention enabling the public to see at small cost a true and perfect representation of man and his world in all possible moods and aspects.

Q. What is the object of the moving picture?
A. To amuse, to entertain, to instruct, to teach the mind and touch the heart, to hold the mirror up to nature, and to man.

Q. What is the influence of the moving picture?
A. As it affects daily, more human beings than library, school or theater combined, its influence is one of the greatest in modern life.

Q. Is this influence exerted for good or evil?
A. Wholly for good, subject only to the imperfections and limitations of human nature. The quality of the pictures is steadily improving, educational features are on the increase, the tone and general atmosphere of moving picture theaters are clean and healthy.

Q. Who controls the morals of the moving picture?
A. The greatest court in the world, from which there is no appeal—THE PUBLIC.

Q. Does the moving picture depict crime?
A. The moving picture does NOT depict crime. A complete and true portrayal of life, without showing its errors, follies, and weaknesses is impossible, but the moving picture only takes notice of the darker side of life as an incident and devotes far less space to it than the daily press or Shakespeare.

Q. What will be the future of the moving picture?
A. Its friends believe it is destined to become the people's university, as it has long since become the people's theater. It will have the best and largest theaters for its homes; it will attract the greatest artists of the world's stage; plays will be supplied by the highest type of playwrights; it will be an invaluable aid in the diffusion of accurate knowledge in all departments of learning, especially in natural history, chemistry, medicine and surgery.

Q. What should be your attitude toward the moving picture?
A. One of friendly criticism. The moving picture invites popular comment and criticism; it depends for its existence and prosperity on the people; it asks you to see, to examine and to express your opinion to the management, for which the management will ever be grateful.

Ramsay's Colonial offers two full reels of the latest and best moving pictures obtainable, exhibited in a fully lighted theatre, and accompanied by the best musical talent to be had. Every evening except Sunday, and a Matinee Saturday from 2 to 4 P. M., at a Five-Cent admission.

Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

THE PEDDLER'S GRAFT.

There is now and always has been a great deal of misunderstanding existing among the people as to the right of the municipality to tax or license the itinerant vender of merchandise.

The strange peddler who goes about the streets of the city or town crying out his wares and soliciting patronage, can be, under the law, compelled to pay into the public treasury a sum of money for that privilege. The sum which he may be required to pay, however, varies greatly, owing to the circumstances surrounding each case.

The kind of merchandise offered for sale, the manner in which it is offered and the size of the municipality in which he is operating, are each and all elements to be considered in making up the sum total with which he should be charged.

Many people, especially the local tradesman, who, as residents of the municipality with a fixed place of business frequently have the understanding that this power to tax or license is vested in the authorities for the protection of the business of the home tradesman, and that being true that the authorities can fix the license fee at any figure they see fit, even to the limit of prohibiting the transient venders from doing business.

This is wholly erroneous. The power to tax these non-resident venders exists only to the extent of compelling them to contribute to maintaining the police, sanitary and other regulations to the extent that their presence in the community renders necessary.

Consequently the tax on traveling circus performances may be and is much heavier than on a clothing or cut flower vender, for the very manifest reason that the first mentioned is a very considerable added burden to the police department, while the latter occasions slight, if any, additional cost in maintaining any of the city departments.

Strange as it may seem the local dealer who maintains his residence and place of business in the municipality and pays his taxes half yearly, has no right under the constitution which entitles him to protection other than those which exist in any other citizen.

Time after time city councils have endeavored to pass prohibitory license ordinances for the protection of local tradesmen and in every instance in which the question has been tested the higher courts have held that the constitution forbids that sort of protection.

In the larger cities of the land the authorities of late have been listening to complaints from another quarter—the residence districts. People claim that the outrageous bawling of these peddlers indulged in when "crying" their wares is enough to waken the dead and have urged that in order to prevent disturbing the peace and quiet of the community the peddlers be stopped under the power to abate nuisances.

To come right square down to honesty and fair dealing there is no good reason under the sun why an outsider who contributes nothing toward the support of a community should be allowed to come in and skim the cream from those who, year in and year out make that community possible.

Frequently the prospect of long and expensive litigation with a lower court thoroughly saturated with the home rule sentiment and a prohibitive license fee often turns the trick.

Home merchants should be protected from these tramps. That is a fact. But how to do it is a question which, so far, is unanswered.

AFTER THE QUACKS.

One of the most important questions now before the American people for solution is the preservation of life and health. In the solution of this question, as an aid to the crusade for better conditions, as purveyors of reliable information as to how best the desired end can be accomplished the newspapers of the country stand in the front rank of fighters.

In addition to educating the people along proper lines the newspapers have a further mission to perform and that is in exposing the many fraudulent schemes promoted by unscrupulous men and women who take advantage of the ignorance and the misfortune of the sick in order to plunder them of their dollars. This danger is one of the greatest which now confronts the people, and is one of the gravest of the many menaces to public health.

Several reputable journals are now engaged in the work of investigating these widely advertised quack cure alls and publishing the results of these investigations for the information of the people.

The reputable newspapers of the land owe it to themselves, to their readers and to humanity in general to close their advertising columns to these fake remedies. Nay, they should go further and expose the pernicious fraud wherever it is possible to do so, and by the mere exposure of the truth drive out of business those vulture concerns which live and thrive on the credulity of the unfortunate and weak.

The American Medical Association through the announced result of experiments in its chemical laboratory, is giving to the world much reliable information, and the widest publicity to this information should be accorded in all reputable newspapers.

The advertising columns should be kept as clean and wholesome and reliable as the news and editorial columns.

POETRY FOR TODAY

WHY HE FAILED.

He circled in a little sphere,
With slouching steps, at careless ease;
He saw the same old, ragged trees
Put forth their leaves year after year;
He envied those who went away
To journey over distant seas;
With trousers sagging at the knees
He went his round from day to day.
He did the things he had to do,
Content to leave all else undone;
He studied only how to shun
The paths that were untrod and new;
He envied those who dared to gain
The triumphs waiting to be won;
Unhappy working in the sun,
He looked for shelter from the rain.
He watched the clock and rested when
He heard the whistle start to blow;
He mourned his luck and longed to know
Why Fortune favored other men;
With features strange to cheerful-ness,
He moved with slouching steps and slow,
Beholding others come and go,
And hating those who won success.
—S. E. Kiser, in Record-Herald.

The Prevaricators' Club.

In a little country village a crowd of loafers around a store got to talking about echoes, and Jim Sanders said down where he was born and raised there was an echo, and he used to put it to a peculiar use. He said that every night before he went to bed he would put his head out the window and say:
"Jim Sanders! Seven o'clock; time to get up!"
He would start that echo going, and next morning at 7 o'clock it would get back and say: "Jim Sanders! Seven o'clock; time to get up!"
Deacon Witherspoon said he didn't know much about echoes, but he'd seen it rain about as hard as anybody ever seen it rain. Somebody said:
"Deacon, how hard did you ever see it rain?"
"Well, sir," said the deacon, "once upon a time when I was at home we had an old cider barrel lying out in the yard with both ends out and the bung-hole up, and would you believe it?—it rained so hard into that bung-hole that water couldn't run out of both ends fast enough, and it swelled up and busted."
We thought that was pretty good for a deacon.
Deacon Henry said he'd never seen it rain very hard, but he'd seen some mighty cold weather. Somebody said:
"Rube, how cold did you ever see it get?"
He said, "Well, sir, one time when I was living down in Pickaway county, in hog killing time, we had a kettle of boiling water setting on the stove, and we took it out in the yard, and it froze so doggone quick the ice was hot!"

TRIMLY BREVITIES

D'Annunzio's writing table is an old church altar upon which rests a Bible bound in pigskin. The chairs are gothic in form, and the books in the cases are all old. The "master" would not have modern books in his study on the ground that they destroyed his inspiration.

Queen Mary is no public speaker, though a widely read woman, with out being in any sense a bluestocking, and is proficient in Italian, German and French, playing the harp and piano well and being a great knitter and the most expert needlewoman in the royal family.

At a wooden house at which a missionary called in Australia far from the beaten tracks, occupied by a man his wife and little daughter, the girl ran into the house excitedly crying out: "Mother, here's another thing like daddy!" The child had never seen any man but her father.

This is the way that lobster prices grow in New York city: The whole saler doubles what he pays the fisherman, the peddler doubles what he pays the wholesaler, and the restaurateur doubles what he pays the peddler. For what the fisherman is paid 10 cents the consumer pays $180.

The Hook of Holland, situated at the mouth of the river Maas, North sea, is a village of no importance except for its location and being the point where the Dutch government has built strong fortifications for the defense of the entrance to the river and the surrounding coast in case of war.

Iceland may have woman suffrage, and compulsory suffrage at that. Herr Haffstein, formerly a cabinet member, proposes a plan whereby all offices will be open to women under the same conditions as to men and desires to have the suffrage made compulsory, so that all women will take part in public affairs.

The Kohinoor, the big diamond now in the crown of England, was an ornament on the tomb of Akbar, near Agra, for more than a century, in the open air without guard, until Nadir Shah of Persia, who invaded India in 1739, sacked the palaces and tombs of the moguls and carried back to Teheran $300,000,000 worth of loot.

A new French fuel consists of wood charcoal mixed in a kneading machine with 24 per cent by weight of water, 15 per cent of silicate of soda and 3 per cent of hydraulic lime. It is compressed into molds or is otherwise shaped and dried two or three days. The product burns without odor or smoke, leaving 8 to 10 per cent of ash.

An Exception.

"Happiness," declaimed the philosopher, "is the pursuit of something, not the catching of it."
"Have you ever," interrupted the plain citizen, "chased the last cat on a rainy night?"—Tuloso Blade.

Oysters as Rat Traps.

Catching rats with oyster shells is the unique method employed by some pearlers round about Broome, Western Australia. They leave a large oyster on the floor of the cabin at night. It opens for a breath of fresh air, and the smell of fresh meat attracts the rats. When the rodent thinks he'll try a little supper, the oyster suddenly decides that he doesn't like fresh air. Next morning the shell is pried open and the dead rat thrown overboard.

Well married, a man is winged; ill married, he is shackled.—Reesher.

200.—Do the Scriptures indicate that the persecution of the Jews will ever cease?

Answer.—Yes, the Scriptures are quite clear on this point. According to Bible teachings, we expect the Jews to experience further persecution, that will cause some of them to long more than ever to enter the promised land and have a part in the re-organization of Palestine. Our thought, however, is that even now we are in the time when Israel's favor is returning, and that very soon the blessings of the Lord on that people will be openly manifested to the world. Such a time of liberty and favor seems to be clearly foretold by the Prophet Isaiah in chapter 40:1,2, the Prophet saying, "Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God. Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned, for she hath received at the Lord's hand double for all her sins." The Apostle Paul points out (Romans xi) that a remnant of that nation accepted Jesus as The Christ, and all others were broken off from God's favor, until the full number, who will constitute the "elect," shall have been chosen from among the Gentiles; and that then God's favor will return to the nation of Israel.

Our Grocery Clerk Says Why Are Eyes?

There's sharp teeth to that old saw about buying a pig in a bag, do you know it? For some fool reason or other known only to the boss and the late P. T. Barnum that kind of a bargain appeals to customers more than the legitimate sort.

The boss proved he knows it with the aid of a basket of oranges that has been clogging up the place for four days. They were the real goods as oranges, too, only the public just wouldn't take hold. It had the boss rattled for a time. He put fancy signs on 'em, he stuck 'em in the window and he put 'em on the counter, but oh, no!

They're gone now, though. The boss happened across a box of these tissue paper wrappers for oranges, and with yours truly to help him, he did up each vest pocket grape fruit in a cute little raincoat. Now why they should be any more attractive because the customers couldn't see them get me, but they're gone, they're gone.

IN NEW YORK.

"I saw a lively fight on Broadway this morning. A dozen shots were fired, two men fell severely wounded and six ruffians chased another man clear down to the battery."
"Where were the police?"
"Why, they looked on and laughed."
"Good gracious!"
"Yes, they thought it was a moving picture rehearsal."

The only love which on this teeming earth
Asks no return for passion's wayward birth

Them Fatal Woids; Or, Over the Wine

They were in the restaurant, he and she, dining at dinner. All around soft-footed waiters soft-footed it, and the rattle of dishes could not be heard, for this was a swell restaurant. It was the manager's boast that his dishes did not rattle.

The young man, handsome, tall, tall, handsome, leaned across the table hesitatingly, as though what he was about to say required a courage he did not possess.

The beautiful girl smiled encouragingly into his eyes. There was a moment of suspense, and then the young man sighed deeply. Ahhh! Ahhh! He sighed deeply twice, the second time more so, if anything.

At last the words came.
"Darling," he besought, "Don't ask for dessert. Eat more bread!"

Journal Circuit Race of Paris
Proves the Most Deadly to the Air Pilots.

TWO FLYERS BURN TO DEATH

First Fatality Occurs When LeMartin
Loses Control of Blériot Machine and Plunges 180 Feet to Earth.
Lieutenant Princeteau's Clothing
Catches Fire and Flashes From Exposed Petrol Tank Soon Envelops Aeroplane.

Paris, June 19.—Three men are dead as the result of the Journal's aviation circuit race and several others had close calls from death. A crowd of 250,000 flocked to the Vincennes artillery field. There were 6,000 soldiers and police on duty to hold the crowd in check. Le-Martin, who was the twenty-fifth to start, had hardly cleared the ground when it was evident to the onlookers that he was not in control of the Blériot monoplane in which he was riding. The apparatus tossed terribly and then the motor stopped.
LeMartin began to descend and as he described a circle in the air the crowd below was struck with terror.
When within 180 feet of the ground
it was seen that all hope for the aviator was lost, and he came headlong to the earth. He was killed almost instantly, his head having been terribly crushed.

Clothes Catch Fire.
The next fatality occurred at Issyles-Moulineaux. Lieutenant Princeteau and a dozen soldiers who had been ordered to accompany the circuit in aeroplanes had appeared to leave for Vincennes, and seven of them were in the air when the carburettor of Princeteau's machine set fire to the aviator. He noticed that his clothes were burning and began to descend from a height of 75 feet, when the wind struck the machine underneath. The machine landed abruptly on its right wing and then the gasoline tank exploded. In half a second the Blériot was a mass of flames. Lieutenant Princeteau made almost superhuman efforts to extricate himself from the frame of the burning monoplane, but his legs were caught between a part of the machine and the ground and he was powerless. The spectators, among whom was the luckless Lieutenant's brother, could not approach the wreck because of the fierce heat.

When they finally were able to quench the flames the body of the officer was an unrecognizable mass of burned flesh.

News was received later to the effect that Landron, in a Pichet monoplane, had fallen near Chateau Thierry. It is reported that his machine took fire from the exploding petrol tank and that Landron was burned to death.

Garros, soon after starting, was seen to be returning and, contrary to the regulations, he was returning along the course. He passed just a few yards above the officials and the members of the press crowded at the starting line and descended to the ground near the main grandstand.
Screams arose from the spectators who were jammed so tightly that they could scarcely move. That the soil fortunately was sandy and the machine stopped a few feet beyond the barriers. The chief of police was in a rage and threatened to stop the race if there was a repetition of Garros' act. The officials fined Garros 500 francs, and he prepared to make a second start. He failed again, but this time landed at a point that was safe.

Castro, Trouble Maker of Central America, Fomenting Another Revolution In Venezuela.

Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, is reported to be on his way to that country with the idea of starting a revolution to put himself again in the presidency. All the powers will cooperate to keep Castro out of Venezuela. The American government has ordered a double guard at New Orleans and other places on the Gulf coast in order to prevent the departure of any filibustering expedition in aid of Castro. A general warning also has been sent to all West Indian consuls and other agents to keep a sharp lookout for him.

LARRIMER LAUNDRY CASE TRIAL IS POSTPONED LEGAL QUESTION ARISES

The $5,000 damage case brought by Miss Lottie Harmon against the Larrimer Laundry for damages sustained while employed by the above concern, in which she lost one hand by being crushed and burnt in a large mangle several months ago, came up for trial in Common Pleas court Monday morning, but was indefinitely postponed and the jury dismissed until later.

This action is due to a question of law involved, and upon which argument was commenced before Judge Carpenter. Post & Reid are attorneys for the plaintiff and John Logan attorney for the defendants. The case will probably go over until the next assignment of cases is made.

Mrs. Ellen Jenkins Stricken While Shopping

While engaged in shopping in Stutson's store at 11:15 Monday morning, Mrs. Ellen Jenkins, of East street this city, was suddenly stricken with paralysis and as a result is now in a very critical condition with little hopes of recovery.

Mrs. Jenkins was seated at the time she suffered the stroke, and would have fallen to the floor if some of the clerks had not rendered prompt attention. Dr. Rowe was called and Mrs. Jenkins was removed to her home, where she remains in a semi-conscious condition.

Mare Killed Colt Blinded

Saturday night lightning struck and killed a valuable thoroughbred mare belonging to Mr. Floyd Eichelberger, of Jefferson township. The mare, with a colt by her side, was out in the field when the bolt descended, killing her instantly, and destroying the sight of the promising colt.

Mr. Eichelberger estimates his loss at $500.

W. C. Minnie Sues For a Divorce

W. C. Minnie, patent medicine vender, well known throughout the city and county and a resident of this city, has brought suit for divorce from Martha A. Minnie, alleging gross neglect of duty.

They were married in Georgetown, Ohio, April 2nd, 1903, and one child was born, but is dead. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant has refused to live with him for several years.

Wheat Harvest Now at Hand

Wheat harvest will open up this week, many of the farmers having announced their intention of starting the binder in their fields. This throws harvest a week to ten days earlier than usual, due to the continued dry weather in April and May which also cut the crop somewhat shorter than it would otherwise have been.

The wheat straw is much shorter than usual this year in most sections of the county, but where local rain fell during the dry weather the crop is a good one.

Think Automobiles Should Be Admitted

The subject of allowing automobiles entrance to the Washington cemetery at certain hours in the morning, has been discussed among some of the owners of machines in this city, and it seems to be the consensus of opinion that this privilege should be extended, it being pointed out that machines are allowed in other cemeteries in adjoining cities at certain hours in the day.

If the auto owners would take the matter up with those in charge of the cemetery, which is proposed, it would at least be given consideration.

PLAY WITHIN A PLAY.

The Feasting Scene Developed a Comical Complication.

In Willie Edouin's production of "Dreams," which enjoyed a long and lucrative prosperity, there was a nighty feast on the stage, of which the principal item was a "property" chicken, made of canvas and with detachable legs and wings. Obviously the actors could not eat them, and each night after the scene they were gathered up and replaced on the bird, ready for the next performance. The real edibles were generally apples, bread and gingersnaps, for the purchase of which a generous management allowed the property man 25 cents a night. James, as this functionary was called, used to pocket the money, according to members of the company, and feed them stale biscuits and crackers taken from the table of the dollar a day hotels in which he made his residence en tour. Member after member of the company complained to Mr. Edouin but each was treated with scant consideration, for Mr. Edouin did not have to eat in the play. His share in the banquet was a glass of lemon soda served in place of wine, and the property man was generally wise enough not to offend the star by any substitution.

One night, however, during the banquet scene, when Mr. Edouin, as a grandfather, pulled the cork of the stage champagne, a disagreeable odor and whitish smoke came forth. Something had gone wrong with the lemon soda. Mr. Edouin discovered at once that there had been a mistake. He pushed his own glass aside and started to fill the other glasses. Thereupon his wife, who was never behindhand when there was a chance for fun, leaned across the table and remarked quite audibly:

"You are going to give us a treat to-night, grandpa; don't forget yourself." Interpolating lines meant a fine of $5, and Edouin glared, but he raised the bottle to fill his glass. The last of the liquor was thicker and apparently more unpleasant than the first. As Edouin appeared to hesitate his mischievous wife sprang to her feet with a new interpolation.

"A bumper, grandpa," she cried, shaking the gray curls she wore as grandpa's wife. "I demand that you shall first drink a bumper to the health of the old wife who has stood at your side more than fifty years." The house applauded, and there was no getting out of it. Edouin drained the glass, then, with a look of murder in his eyes, vanished from the scene. A moment later he returned, dragging with him the property man, who had been standing in the wings, dressed as a country bumpkin, ready to drive the sleigh in the next scene.

"Here, mother," said Edouin, "here's some one who wants to drink your health too." Seizing a bowl, he drained the contents of the bottle into it and then, deliberately emptying all the glasses into it, handed it to James. "Drink that, my lad," he said cheerfully, adding under his breath, "If you leave a drop of it you'll be discharged." James took his medicine; then he disappeared. New York Times.

Agreed With the Admiral.

Sir John Fisher, who recently resigned as first sea lord of England, is a bluff, blunt, old fashioned seaman, about whom anecdotes cluster as bees on a honeysuckle. One of the classics has to do with a former boatswain on Fisher's ship, who insisted upon seeing him at the admiralty offices in London. Fisher was busy and refused to be bothered. "He'll stay 'till I do see 'im," said the boatswain.

Sir John was not in good humor, and when this was reported to him he snapped out, "I'll see him in hell." The boatswain had edged into the office and heard this promise. "Hi, know that, Sir John," said he, "but I'll want to 'ave a talk with you first." And he had the talk.

Making It Right.

On one of the southern railroads a negro found employment as a fireman. On his first trip he noticed that the steam gauge showed 200 pounds, the hand pointing in the direction of the engineer. "See the way that hand is pointing?" said the engineer. "Yes,

TAPPED HIM ON THE SHOULDER.

sah." "Well," continued the man at the throttle, "you want to keep that hand pointing at me all the time." They ran along for about fifteen miles, and the steam went down. The hand began to point toward the fireman's seat. The negro watched it intently. Finally he stepped over to the engineer and tapped him on the shoulder, saying, "Cap. Ah spect you'd better get over on the other side awhile."

Important Change in C. H. & D. Train Schedule

Word has just been received in this city that on June 25th, an important change in time will take place on the C. H. & D. railroad, which will probably affect two trains running through this city.

Just what the change is has not been given out by the head officials, and it will probably be several days before the new time card is officially announced. One of the trains changed will probably be the east-bound evening train which arrives in this city at 6:22, but too late to make connection with the B. & O. which arrives at 6:14.

60,000 Gallons Of Road Oil

So far 54,000 gallons of road, or street oil has been applied in this city, and those in charge of the sprinkling have started on another 6,000 gallon tank of oil, and practically all of the principal streets have received, or will receive application of the fluid.

Oiling streets in this city has proven a complete success in every particular with the exception of the small annoyance when the oil is first applied.

The Heroine of the Tale.

When Congressman J. Hampton Moore was a reporter in Philadelphia he was assigned one night to go out and get a human interest story about a woman who had died at the age of eighty-eight, leaving a twin sister, with whom she had lived for fifty years, as sole survivor of an old family.

The house stood opposite a cemetery on the outskirts of the town, and Moore wished, as he pulled aside the crape to ring the bell, that his city editor wouldn't be so fertile with his ideas of human interest stories. A woman friend of the aged sisters opened the door and ushered J. Hampton into the parlor, over in one corner of which rested the dead sister in her coffin.

The neighbor seemed to feel it was up to her to entertain the reporter while he was waiting for the other sister to drag herself in for the interview. By way of small talk the woman motioned with her thumb in the direction of the coffin and remarked, "That's the lady that died."

"Suspected as much," replied Moore. - Philadelphia Record.

SEEING A PURPLE COW.

Perfectly Natural Under Certain Conditions, Says an Artist.

H. Anthony Dyer, painter of water colors, was explaining the matter to some possible buyers of his wares.

"Suppose while you are in the country in summer," said he, "you chance upon a Holstein cow grazing on a hill-side. Holsteins, of course you know, are black and white. The pasture is green. Off at one side is a gray unpainted barn. Do you stagger with surprise when you notice that that cow is purple? Not a bit of it. If it were not purple you might reasonably consult an oculist. That would be a sign that your eyes needed attention."

"But you may never have tried to figure out why the cow is purple. Here is the answer: The complementary color of the green pasture is red. The sight of green always suggests red, although we don't realize it. Flooding the scene is the yellow sunshine. The yellow, the red and the green combine to tint the grazing neutral colored cow purple, and purple it undeniably is, as you must admit when next you encounter one under such circumstances. Nevertheless, therefore, may you sing with Goetz Burgess:

I never saw a purple cow.
I never hope to see one

Most Folks--Maybe You

Are careless in the care of the skin. Do you know that the skin is made up of innumerable pores which give off the poisonous matter of the body, and should be kept open and clean.

Bathing is most excellent to keep the skin healthful, but MANOLINE helps wonderfully, use after bathing before using the drying towel; a small quantity covers a large skin surface, and note the wonderful skin improvement through its use in a short time.

There are 360 drops of MANOLINE in a tube, costs 25c. instead of One or Two Dollars. Money back if you think not as represented in every respect.

MALARIA GERMS THRIVE ON BEAKS OF MOSQUITOS

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Spl.)—The summer vacationist need not fear the nefarious mosquito, or its committal pest, malaria, if he reads and digests what Uncle Sam, in the person of Dr. L. O. Howard of the Department of Agriculture, has to say about them in a little booklet just issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The pamphlet was issued in response to strong demands from farmers in certain sections of the south, where malaria has long been a scourge. The summer boarder at the seashore or lakes can probably get a good deal of information out of it.

There are many localities in the United States where malaria is prevalent, and some in which the existence of the disease in an aggravated form is a serious barrier to agricultural or industrial development.

Investigation by government scientists and others has demonstrated that the malaria parasite is only transmitted by certain species of mosquitos. It has always been known that malaria was most prevalent in the vicinity of marshes, and it was formerly supposed that the air or exhalations from these marshes produced the disease.

Parasites of malaria, however, have not been found by investigators, either in the water or air of the marshes, nor in decaying vegetation, nor the soil, although they have been diligently sought.

Attempts to produce infection by these agencies have always failed. The mosquito which carries the parasite, however, breeds in marshes or in marshy pools and streams.

Issuing from these breeding places, they enter nearby houses and feed upon the inmates, mostly at night, biting first one person and then others, and living for weeks and months.

If an infected person happens to be present in any of these houses, the anopheline or germ carrying mosquito, in biting him will also become infected, and, in turn, transmit the parasite to a healthy person.

The malarial parasite breeds rapidly. Although only a few may have been introduced into the blood through the beak of a mosquito, they rapidly increase until millions upon millions of them may exist.

At first when the number is small, an infected person may remain apparently well. When, however, the number is large enough, he begins to suffer from fever.

The parasites are microscopic and one-celled. On being introduced into the blood, however, each minute organism enters a red blood cell, and branches out, forming new spores. They tend to produce their spores all at the same time, and it is at this moment when these spores escape from the blood cells that fever begins.

From a careful investigation, government scientists and other investigators believe that the fever is actually caused by a little poison which escapes from each parasite as the spores are released.

The three classes of malaria are caused by three distinct varieties of parasites. The one which produces its spores every three days causes quartan fever, that which produces every other day, the tertian, and finally, there is a third, the malignant type, which is most dangerous, and is irregular.

Quinine, according to the pamphlet, kills the parasites when administered at the proper time, but generally it will not destroy all the parasites in the body unless it is given in sufficient doses and continued for several months.

As long as a single parasite remains alive in the blood, the patient may be subject to relapses. At least five grains of quinine should be taken every day for four months to effect a cure, according to the authorities.

Statistics show that negroes are less liable to infection from malarial mosquitos than white men. For this reason, many blacks are able to live in regions unsafe for the Caucasian.

In the United States there are only three species of mosquitos which commonly carry malaria—anopheles quadrimaculatus; anopheles crucians, and anopheles punctipennis. The first is more commonly found in the northern states, the second in the south, particularly along the coast.

Punctipennis appears in both the north and south. It carries quartan and tertian malaria in the south, but strangely enough, not in the north. Efforts have been made in northern states to see if this species will spread the parasites, but without avail.

The ordinary observer can tell the anopheline, or malaria carrying mosquito by the fact that its wings are more or less spotted and that in resting on the wall its body inclines away from the wall at an angle, while with most mosquitos the body is parallel to the wall.

These species of mosquitos pass the winter as adults, in the autumn they enter residences, stables, barns, or other outhouses, or seek sheltered hiding places, and remain there until spring. They may be killed by fumigation.

Investigation has disclosed the fact that the mosquitos very rarely bite until sundown. Anopheles crucians, have been known on very rare occasions to bite during the day, but none of the others. None of the three species fly very far. It is doubtful if any can travel a greater distance on their wings than a half mile.

They breed in all sorts of accumulations of standing water. Two species even breed in brackish sea water.

Summing up, the booklet says that there are now three recognized means of warfare against malaria: mechanical protection of individuals from the bites of malarial mosquitos; the destruction of the anopheles mosquitos in any or all stages of their growth; and the systematic treatment of the population of a malarious locality with quinine until the disease has been stamped out and no parasites remain from the mosquitos to carry.

The first of these methods is largely a matter of personal prevention and consists in thoroughly screening all habitations of human beings and, in the summer time of wearing netting gloves when out of doors after sundown.

This method was systematically enforced at the stations on the Italian railroads some years since and resulted in a very great reduction in the malaria rate.

The second measure, that of destroying the anopheles, has been practiced with admirable success in Cuba, Panama, West Africa, Egypt and India. Oil is poured on all standing water.

The quinine method has been used by the Germans and Italians. It consists in the distribution of free quinine to all laborers and to the poor living in malarious localities. The quinine is prepared in its most agreeable form, as confectionery, principally as chocolates, the latter containing tannate of quinine, which is not so bitter as the ordinary variety.

In Italy by means of mechanical protection, the malaria rate was reduced from 65 or 70 per cent. to 14 per cent. But there it held. The quinine method was then introduced, and the general malaria rate has by this means been reduced to less than 4 per cent.

Knew When to Stop.

A delegation of three entered the office of the young and rising lawyer, and the spokesman had a box of cigars on the table and stepped back and said:

"The Quill Club of which you are a member, desires to present its compliments."

"But—L!" stammered the lawyer.

"You made a speech on Washington."

"And then I broke down and could say no more."

"That's why the club presents you these cigars—because you knew enough to break down when you had said enough."

O, you who have a mother dear,

Let not a word or act give pain;

But cherish, love her, with your life.

You never can have her like again!

SAVED AGAIN.

"I was behind you coming up the street just now," declared Mrs. Jellus, "and you rubbed at every pretty woman you passed."

"At every stylish woman," said Mr. Jellus. "I was just taking note of the spring gowns, with a view to buying you a handsome one."

A Mother's love—how sweet the name!

What is a Mother's love?

A noble, pure, and tender flame,

Enkindled from above.

To bless a heart of earthly mold;

The warmest love that can grow old—

This is a Mother's love.

—F. Montgomery.

Practical Fashions

LADY'S SHIRT WAIST.

While this pretty waist is really very simple, it is none the less novel in the cut of the shoulder. This gives us the seamless arrangement, the sleeves being in one with the side bodies of the waist and these joined to the balance under cover of the tucks which trim both front and back of the waist at the shoulder. The waist is otherwise plain, closing in the center of the front in a band in the usual manner. The sleeves end at the elbows and are finished with a turn back cuff. The neck is round and has a small turnover collar. Such wash materials as linen, pongee, silk, gingham, madras and percale and also messaline, taffetas, challis and cashmere are suitable for a waist in this style.

The pattern (5085) is cut in sizes 32 to 40 inches, bust measure. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch goods.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give correct number of pattern.

Making Cakes

First attention should be given to the oven, making sure that the fire is not too hot, and will remain even until the baking is done. Unless you have control of your fire do not attempt to bake cake.

Loaf cake requires less heat than thin cakes. If the oven is too hot at first or is suddenly cooled while the cake is baking the cake will be heavy. Loaf cake should bake as long again as thin cake. Divide the time of baking into quarters. The first quarter should show a rising, with the edges higher than the center; the second a continued even rising, with a slight brown tint; the third a deeper brown, and the last a shrinking and settling. If your cake rises and cracks in the center you are using too much flour; when it browns before rising, the oven is too hot.

How to Put Butter

Cake Mixture Together

Cream the butter with hand or a large spoon, add sugar and cream again until very light. When the proportion of butter is small it may be put in with the eggs and sugar. Beat the yolks until light yellow, add to butter and sugar and beat again. Add flavoring and then a little milk, then a little flour, a little milk again, and so on until the milk and flour are all used, and beat vigorously until your mixture is smooth. Add lastly the beaten whites. Fruit should be added last, and fruit cake mixtures should be a little stiffer with flour.

Sponge Cake Mixtures

Beat the yolks until they are a light yellow and creamy and slowly beat in the sugar. Add flavoring and liquid and beat again. Beat the whites until stiff and fold in without beating. Add flour lastly with as little stirring as possible, as it makes the cake tough. Always follow these directions and cake failures will never be known.

Cream Pie

Someone asked for more explicit directions for B. H.'s cream pie. I have lost the paper, so do not know who it was, but as I have the recipe I shall send it in. Put into your mixing bowl, slightly warmed, 1-2 cup butter and cream it, then add 1 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, and mix thoroughly with butter. Then beat 1 egg, and turn into first mixture with 1 teaspoon vanilla and 3-4 nutmeg, grated. Beat mixture with eggbeater until it stands up thick. Into a cup of cold water put 2 teaspoons condensed milk and stir well. Add to first mixture and beat with eggbeater. Sift into this two cups flour already prepared. Take 2 nine-inch pie tins and put a spoonful of the mixture alternately into each until all is in. Spread the mixture in pans, having center hollow so that the pie will be level. Bake in moderate oven 30 minutes and do not open door until then. When cold, spread between them and on top 1-2 pint medium thick cream whipped stiff. Add sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla, if you like.

Orange Custard

Peel 4 sweet oranges, remove all white pith and cut in circles. Lay the slices in a glass dish and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Pour over them a custard made of the yolks of 2 eggs, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1 cup of milk and vanilla flavoring. Put above mixture in a saucepan and set in a large pan of boiling water. Heat slowly and stir till it begins to thicken. Do not let it boil or it will curdle. Add whites of eggs, beat thoroughly and pour over oranges. Serve cold.

Hot Water Gingerbread

One cup of molasses, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1-2 cup melted lard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup boiling water, 2 cups flour. Mix in order given and beat well. Bake about 20 or 30 minutes in not too hot an oven.

Bribe Grand Jury Promises to Uncork Another Big Sensation

Columbus, O., June 19.—Startling sensations in connection with the legislative scandal are promised for the near future, and no surprise would be created here if the grand jury should be called together some time this week to consider testimony that has been developed since it was temporarily dismissed. Since the last indictments were returned there have been new developments that give every promise of having long and almost endless ramifications. Some witnesses haven't told all they know. The prosecuting attorneys now are in possession of facts to show the dereliction of such witnesses, and where it took place, and it is the determination of the prosecution to call them again summarily before the grand jury. They will be given another chance to divulge or face the danger of perjury charges. The fact that most of the disclosures made before the jury have been only half-hearted and that much concealment of facts took place has come to light from time to time since the grand jury was temporarily dismissed. All in all, there is not the slightest question but that the prosecution expects sensational and startling developments when probing is officially renewed.

Races With Fast Train

Aviator Johnstone Beats Passenger in Short Sprint.

New York, June 19.—In an aeroplane flight from Mineola to Belmont park aerodrome, St. Croix Johnstone raced with a Long Island train and beat it. Johnstone had completed several laps on the field when the engine came puffing into the station and he at once shot out after it. The contest furnished excitement for the passengers, who craned their necks from the windows to see the machine as it darted up almost 1,500 feet and traveled at a speed that soon outdistanced the rail flyer. At Belmont park Johnstone made a swoop to the ground and, without landing, again took the high currents and swung back to Mineola. He was up 22 minutes.

War Loses Its Charm

Columbus, O., June 19.—Information from Washington is to the effect that there are more than 100 vacancies in the class that is to enter the West Point Military academy, three being from Ohio: the Eighth, Eleventh and Eighteenth congressional districts. It appears that no applications have been made for the appointments. It is almost unheard of that such appointments have gone begging in Ohio. Usually there is sharp competition for them.

Poor Old "Reds" Again Lose Out

Cincinnati Changed Pitchers Three Times and Then Lost.

Cincinnati, O., June 19.—Brooklyn defeated the Reds here, 3 to 1. The game was a long one, due to the fact that Griffith changed pitchers three times in an effort to start a batting rally with a pinch hitter. Rucker was hit rather freely and gave an unusual number of passes, but he tightened up in the pinches.

Hitchcock is Planning An Enormous Saving Railroad Rate Cut

Washington, June 19.—According to Postmaster General Hitchcock many railroads are carrying the mails at a large profit, while others are furnishing the service at a loss. It is his opinion that the railway mail service can be re-adjusted in such a manner as to effect a saving to the government of approximately $9,000,000 a year without doing injustice to any carrier.

Under the direction of the postmaster general, government officials have been conducting an inquiry into the cost of railway mail transportation. The investigation has progressed far enough to warrant the postmaster general in making the statement that the great trunk lines are at present receiving the lion's share of the excess compensation paid for mail carriage, while many of the smaller roads are transporting the mails at a loss. In readjusting railway mail payments, the postmaster general proposed to allow the roads a profit of 6 per cent, and congress will be asked to approve a new scale of rates that will be submitted to it.

Detective Burns Indicted. Indianapolis, Ind., June 19.—Detective W. J. Burns and James Hoxsick, a city detective of Los Angeles, Cal., were indicted on charges of kidnaping John J. ### Opposed to Sunday Revivals.

Akron, O., June 19.—The Akron Congregational churches, voting on the proposition to bring W. A. Sunday, the baseball evangelist, to Akron for a revival, are decidedly opposed to the move, which was inaugurated by members of the Akron Ministerial association, who will next Saturday send a delegation to Erie to extend an invitation to Sunday.

Kills Wife and Self.

West Jefferson, O., June 19.—Frank Ernest, 38, sexton of Sts. Simon and Jude's Catholic church, upon returning home from a christening at the church shot and almost instantly killed his wife and then killed himself. Four small children are orphaned by the act, for which the only explanation offered is jealousy.

Quarreled Over Dime One Dying

One Man Dying and Other Is In the County Jail.

East Liverpool, O., June 19.—Guy Alexander, 50, of Georgetown, Pa., is dying in the city hospital here with a bullet imbedded in his right side, and John W. Porter, 40, married is in the Beaver county jail, having given himself up after he fired the shot. Alexander operates a ferry between Smith's Ferry and Georgetown. Porter was returning home from this city, where he is engaged in the plumbing business. The men quarreled over a debt of 10 cents, so a brother of Alexander says.
